
The distinction requires additional provenance or assumptions, not a stronger score on the same X.